Run 1989 – Slaphers Sensational Seasonal Shuffle

The Sessional Shuffle from Slappers Residence was well attended by a pack of serious and seasoned athletes ready to satisfy their sensors from another sizzling Slapper Shuffle.

The pack set off down the road, into the suburbs, across parks, down dark lane, fording dry creek beds and after a gruelling shuffle arrived at a rather unusual drink stop. It seems port somehow goes with lemonade at whatever ratio the mixer and supplier decides. It was amusing how the pack discussed the flavour and consistency of the drink stop, some describing the taste as crap yet stood there drinking the mixture, and at times having seconds.

After dragging themselves away from the drink stop the pack shuffled their way back to the Slapper Residence and were presented with cheesy nibbles which was washed down with the occasional ale.

The night was blessed by the attendance of our full time, sometime part time, GM. In his usual manner he tried to conduct an orderly and informative circle, but as usual the rabble we call hash was able to overcome any sense of order and lowered the proceeding to the usual gutter level. Still the GM was able to continue through his agenda, ignoring the rowdy mob and giving out drinks, shirts and abuse as necessary.

The general consensus from the circle was the run was up to the usual Sessional Slapper Shuffle standard, without anyone getting lost and no serious injuries.

After a delicious nosh the pack settled down for a couple more drinks while the bullshit flew high and wide. It should be noted not only was the night the Sessional Slapper Shuffle but we had the return of the lovely Box Office, a harriet who graced our hash many years ago but somehow has found other activities more exciting and profitable on a Tuesday night.

A good night, excellent run and the usual fun and games.
